

FNC's Tucker Carlson Tonight

10/27/20

8:01:29 p.m.

TUCKER CARLSON: This is not a shakedown of the Bidens or of anyone else. Bobulinski is already rich, significantly rich. He is a significant figure in American finance and that's exactly why the Biden family sought him out in the first place. They had no idea how to structure the deals they hope to cash in on, so they enlisted Tony Bobulinski to do it for them, to do the math. Now they are attacking him as an agent of Russian disinformation and that's why Bobulinski is appearing on the show. It's an effort to clear his family's name of that slur. He had no choice. The rest of the national media has suppressed his story. Reporters have ignored — intentionally ignored and, in many cases, dishonestly distorted scores of documents proving that Bobulinski's account is true. Never in American history have more power centers aligned to kill a legitimate story in the days before an election. That's what's happening right now. If you're looking for a real threat to our democracy, an actual threat, you're watching it unfold. We are seeing it firsthand. Last night we experience an extraordinary attempt to interfere with our reporting on the Biden family. We'll bring you details on that soon.

8:03:42 p.m.

CARLSON: So, he doesn't say, I want to do a deal with you, and me, and Hunter Biden — or even you, me, Hunter Biden and Jim Biden. He said, between one of the most prominent families from the United States. He's talking about the Biden family.

BOBULINSKI: Yes, that's correct. It was never about Hunter Biden or Jim Biden. It was about the family name, the Biden legacy.

CARLSON: At this point, Joe Biden was the sitting vice president of the United States.

BOBULINSKI: Yes that's correct.

CARLSON: Okay, so I want to fast forward to 2017, early May, 2017, and at this point you've agreed to become part of this deal. Hunter Biden, Jim Biden, the vice president's brother, James Gilliar, and they're asking you to meet with the former vice president in Los Angeles. Describe the context; describe why they wanted you to meet with him.

BOBULINSKI: Okay. Across those days in Los Angeles in May of 2017 that you're referencing, I met with Hunter Biden multiple times at the Chateau Marmont and Rob Walker, and the discussion was they wanted me to sit down with their father, just to meet him and, at a high level, discuss the Biden family and how they approach things.

8:05:35 p.m.

BOBULINSKI: [I]n an email he basically states in his own words to me, I want to continue acting as a proxy for Hunter Biden, Jim Biden and the Bidens around the world.

CARLSON: The Biden family.

BOBULINSKI: The Biden family.

CARLSON: So they want you to meet with the former vice president in LA.

BOBULINSKI: Yes.

CARLSON: How did that play out?

BOBULINSKI: That's correct. The former vice president was flying in, and we were to meet at the Beverly Hilton; the Milken Conference was going on, obviously one of the top three conferences in the world for anybody that's a global investor or developing different humanitarian causes and a variety of things and he was, Joe was flying in to speak about the cancer and the Moonshot stuff he was working on, and Hunter and everyone was in town and they wanted to coordinate me meeting with Joe and so it was set up for the night of May 2nd at The Beverly Hilton. I first met with Hunter Biden and Jim Biden and just had a light discussion where they briefed me that, listen, my dad's on the way, and you know we won't go into too much detail on the business front, but we'll just spend time talking at a high level about you, your background, the Biden family, and then you know he's got to get some rest because he's speaking at the conference in the morning.

CARLSON: So this was at night. The vice president had just flown across the country. He's an older man; he's got work to do.

BOBULINSKI: Correct.

CARLSON: But they carved out a piece of his schedule for you to meet with him. Why would they do that?

BOBULINSKI: Because they were sort of wining and dining me and presenting the strength of the Biden family to get me more engaged and want to take on the CEO role and develop Sinohawk both in the United States and around the world in partnership with CEFC and I — as you can imagine I've been asked by a hundred people the last month you know, why would you be meeting with Joe Biden, and I sort of turn the question around to the people that asked me, why at 10:38 on the night of May 2nd would Joe Biden take time out of his schedule to sit down with me in a dark bar at The Beverly Hilton, sort of positioned behind a column so people couldn't see us, to have a discussion about his family and my family and business at a very high level where Jim Biden sat and Hunter Biden participated in? I'm irrelevant in this story. They weren't raising money for me. There was no other reason for me to be in that bar meeting Joe Biden than to discuss what I was doing with his family's name and the Chinese CEFC.

8:09:26 p.m.

CARLSON: So Joe Biden has not denied meeting with you in Los Angeles. Correct?

BOBULINSKI: Correct.

CARLSON: Tell us about the conversation that you had with him.

BOBULINSKI: So, I initially was sitting — because I got there a little earlier, was sitting with Jim Biden and Hunter Biden, and Joe came through the lobby with his security and Hunter basically said, hey, give me a second, I'll go over and — give me 10 minutes to brief my dad and read him in on things and so then Hunter and his father and security came through the bar, and obviously I stood up out of respect to shake his hand and Hunter introduced me as, this is Tony, Dad, the individual I told you about that's helping us with the business that we're working on and the Chinese.

CARLSON: So it was clear to you that Joe Biden's son had told him about this business deal?

BOBULINSKI: Crystal clear.

CARLSON: Crystal clear. Tell us about the conversation that subsequently occurred between you and Joe Biden.

BOBULINSKI: So the conversation — as you're well aware, Tucker, I grew up the son of a career naval officer, so the president of the United States was always the commander-in-chief, whether they were a Democrat or a Republican or other, and so I had the highest respect for Joe and the office that he had held. And so, I stood up and shook his hand and obviously, we sat down and I think ordered some drinks. I think Jim Biden was hungry and might have ordered some food. And you know, Joe asked me to talk about my background, my family. He thanked me for my service. I'm obviously very proud of that, proud of my brother's service and my grandfather's service and then he walked through sort of his family, you know, obviously some of the tragedies they've dealt with, his political career, on a high level. We didn't go into too much detail on business, because prior to Joe showing up Hunter and Jim had coached me, listen, we won't go into too much detail here, so just a high-level discussion and meeting. So it's not like I was drilling down with Joe about cap tables and details.

CARLSON: So, you said that they wanted you to meet Joe Biden as a way to induce you to participate in this deal. You were the actual business guy here who had management experience, deal experience. But it also sounds like Joe Biden was vetting you to some extent.

BOBULINSKI: Yes of course, like, I didn't request to meet with Joe; they requested that I meet with Joe. And you know he's putting his — and Hunter says this in writing; it was reference multiple times, they were putting their entire family legacy on the line. They knew exactly what they were doing. They were dealing with a Chinese-owned enterprise run by Chairman Ye, CEFC, that had strong financial support and political support from the Chinese Communist Party. That's how it was presented to me. That's not my own words; that's how they presented to me and read me in on it[,]

8:12:38 p.m.

CARLSON: You've seen a number of journalists, reporters covering this story, including some who should know better, declare triumphantly that no document you've released connects the former vice president to this deal. How do you react to that? What's answer to it?

BOBULINSKI: So, you can imagine what I've been through over the last couple months and knowing all this to be fact and watching Joe Biden and his family and their lawyers trot (ph) around the world stating that there was no involvement, or even at the debate Joe Biden referenced that, you've seen my tax returns, and there's no money from foreign enterprise and that. I want to simplify this for the American people as much as I can. On May 13th, that email was sent from James Gilliar to me. I didn't generate that email. James Gilliar generated that email. And in that email, James Gilliar goes through intimate detail of what each individual's requests were from a compensation perspective and how the equity in the enterprise would be divvied up. Very important — May 13th, that email was generated by somebody else to me. In that email, there's a statement where they go through the equity; Jim Biden's referenced as you know 10 percent, doesn't say Biden it says Jim. And then it has 10 percent for the big guy held by H. I one thousand percent sit here and know that the big guy is referencing Joe Biden. That's crystal clear to me because I lived it. I met with the former vice president in person multiple times, and I had been meeting and talking with Hunter Biden and Jim Biden and Rob Walker and James Gilliar. What the media's tried to hide and I personally feel it's disgusting, is between that May 13th email and the final document that was executed called Oneida Holdings, LLC. In Oneida Holdings, LLC, the equity is broken up 20 percent Hunter Biden, 20 percent Jim Biden. There are LLCs that represented them.

CARLSON: Right.

BOBULINSKI: Twenty percent James Gilliar; 20 percent Rob Walker and 20 percent me and my investment entity. What I'd ask the American people to read and look at is how from May 13th to the final Oneida document that got executed, did Jim Biden go from a 10 percent owner to a 20 percent owner? That's not my question to answer. I'm sure there were discussions within the Biden family. I wasn't privy to that discussion. But this is Jim Biden, the brother of the potential future president of the United States. It's not a distant cousin. It's not an employee; it's his brother, who in documents defines himself as a political advisor to his brother. And so, I'll leave that to the American people to answer that. But I don't understand how the American journalist is allowing that gap to be even talked about and defined.

CARLSON: So — and I should say — and I want to put the document on the screen — in his pitch to the Chinese, in his bio, Jim Biden describes himself as an advisor, current advisor to his brother. So was it clear to you from the beginning that what Jim Biden was bringing to this deal was his relationship with Joe Biden?

BOBULINSKI: Yeah, one thousand percent, crystal clear.

8:17:31 p.m.

BOBULINSKI: I'm thinking about the Biden family, like, how are they doing this? I know Joe decided not to run in 2016, but what if he ran in the future? Aren't they taking political risk or headline risk? And I remember looking at Jim Biden and saying, how are you guys getting away with this, like, aren't you concerned? And he — he looked at me and he laughed a little bit and said, plausible deniability.

CARLSON: He said that out loud?

BOBULINSKI: Yes, he said it directly to me one on one in a cabana at the Peninsula Hotel after about a — you know, hour and a half — two-hour meeting. With me asking out of concern how are you guys doing this. Aren't you concerned that you're going to put your brother's future presidential campaign at risk — the Chinese — the stuff that you guys have been doing already in 2015 and 2016 around the world? And I just can almost picture his face, where he sort of chuckles and says, you know, plausible deniability.

CARLSON: So he said — this is a man who has been drafting off his brother's political career for almost 50 years — he said to your face essentially, we're lying about it?

BOBULINSKI: Anyone watching this interview can look up what plausible deniability means —

CARLSON: Yes.

BOBULINSKI: And the definition is very distinct.

CARLSON: That's remarkable. So, I just want to backup a second. Just to be clear, you met with Joe Biden twice?

BOBULINSKI: Yes, that's correct.

CARLSON: What did he say to you after — so he gives his speech at the Milken Conference. I mean, this is all checkable —

BOBULINSKI: Yes.

CARLSON: Right? I mean, that was a public event —

BOBULINSKI: Oh, yes.

CARLSON: You can Google it.

BOBULINSKI: Well, you can go to Milken. They had to issue me — I didn't — I wasn't attending Milken. So they had to issue me special credentials. A whole team walked out into the valet of Tthe Beverly Hilton and walked me into that speech that he gave and sat me at the head table in front of everyone. So this is more than checkable. I'm sure there's photos or documentation and stuff like that.

CARLSON: Yes, the press corps doesn't seem to be rushing to verify this.

8:26:21 p.m.

CARLSON: Tell me about the conversation that you had with Joe Biden. What did — what did he say to you?

BOBULINSKI: You mean the morning after he spoke?

CARLSON: That's right.

BOBULINSKI: It just — it was — there was 10 people running around getting him something to drink. And we were backstage in a cramped space. And he asked me to walk with him out to the car and he just asked, you know, how I did and what I thought of his speech. And I thought he did a great job on the speech. And obviously cancer is a very serious thing that we should all be working together to solve. I just lost a sister-in-law within the last two weeks, sadly, to cancer. And then he just sort of asked me to keep an eye on his son and his brother.

CARLSON: What — what do you think he meant by that?

BOBULINSKI: I think he was conscious of things. And you know, I can't speak for him —

CARLSON: Right.

BOBULINSKI: Maybe — I would love for him to go on record. You know, as I referenced earlier, I'm only sitting here because they have not — not only have they not gone on record, they've denied it and they've tarred my family name and a long history of serving this country — and have other congressmen out talking about Russian disinformation. I held a top secret clearance from the NSA and the DOE. I served this country for four years in one of the most elite environments in the world, Naval Nuclear Power Training Command. And to have a congressman out there speaking about Russian disinformation or Joe Biden at a — at a public debate referencing Russian disinformation, when he knows he sat face-to-face with me, that I was — traveled around the world with his son and his brother, to say that and associate that with my name is absolutely disgusting to me.

8:30:15 p.m.

BOBULINSKI: So, even as I sit here today, I would ask the Biden family to come on record and stop using my name or associating it with Russian disinformation. It's absolutely disgusting.

CARLSON: So this is Rob Walker, the representative of the Biden family. I believe his wife worked for the Biden family, apparently. So you said this to him, I won't go public, I just want them to retract the accusation that I'm an instrument of Russian disinformation. What did he say?

BOBULINSKI: That's correct. Rob was under a tremendous amount of stress.

CARLSON: Right.

BOBULINSKI: Obviously he has a wife and a child, and he said, listen, let me make some calls, let me call George, who's Hunter Biden's lawyer, and see what I can do. But he sort of presented it as if that's going to be impossible for me to get done And I'm not naive; I know that's not impossible to do. That's a single phone call from Joe Biden to Adam Schiff saying, basically, go on record and retract your statement, you got over your skis And when I — I was up late that night, and when the statement wasn't retracted come Monday morning, I was ready to go on record and what — how that record was, I was willing to go in front of any senator, any congressman, the Department of Justice, the FBI, or sit here with you, Tucker, and basically provide the facts to the American people and let them make their decision. This isn't a political focus of mine. People were accusing my family of treason after I served this country and defended this country.

8:32:44 p.m.

BOBULINSKI: These text messages that I've provided are Hunter Biden in the first person, Jim Biden in the first person, James Gilliar in the first person, Rob Walker in the first person. It's not me generating the text messages, it's them speaking. So, you can interview them, the FBI can interview them, our government can interview them. But I was shocked that not only the media is not only discussing this, they're going to the other extreme, they're dismissing it as Russian disinformation. This country has heard enough about Russia. We went through three years of every day, Russia, Russia, Russia, it's just absurd. The cold war is over.

CARLSON: And they're saying it about your family?

BOBULINSKI: Yes.

CARLSON: The Biden family knew that you were going public with this. And you spoke to Rob Walker about it – again, the self-described Biden family representative – and Biden family, meaning Joe Biden as well – what was his response when you let him know that you were going public with this?

BOBULINSKI: Trying to coach me. [LAUGHTER] Trying to sort of say, hey, we don't want to do that, we don't want press trucks out in front of our house. I'm going to have to move, I could lose my job, and all of that – you know, I'm not trying to cause harm to anyone in this situation –

CARLSON: Right.

BOBULINSKI: — let alone Rob Walker and his family, James Gilliar and his family. But basically, Rob's position was, if you go on record with all these facts, you'll bury all of us.

[SOUNDBITE]

BOBULINSKI: If he doesn't come out on record I am providing the facts.

ROB WALKER: Tony. You're just gonna bury all of us man.

8:35:02 p.m.

CARLSON: Give us a sense of your contacts with Hunter Biden. I just — a lot of this is complex. There's a lot that we're not — and this is television so we're not putting, you know, everything that we have on the screen because we can't. But for those who might suspect that you don't — didn't really have a lot of contact with Hunter Biden, give us a sense of some of the places where you had conversations with him and over what timeframe.

BOBULINSKI: So, obviously, as we already discussed throughout 2015 and 2016 while Joe was still the sitting vice president of the United States. These guys had been doing extensive work around the world in places like Oman, Luxembourg, Romania, that I was being made aware of, but I obviously hadn't come off the bench and agreed to be part of this.

CARLSON: I'm sorry, I've got to interrupt you there. Oman, Luxembourg, Romania.

BOBULINSKI: Correct.

CARLSON: So they don't speak any of these languages, neither one of these guys has any record of success in business, neither one has a background in international business. Why would they be doing business in Oman, Luxembourg, and Romania, and Kazakhstan?

BOBULINSKI: Oh, because — because they have relationships and they have the Biden name that they're able to set up meetings and get people to jump through hoops in an interest to garner favor with the sitting Vice President Joe Biden.

CARLSON: So that — so it sounds like Gilliar is a legitimate business guy. A — you know someone who's — who's fluent in the language of international business.

BOBULINSKI: Yes — yes, James Gilliar, you know, served his country. He's British. He's traveled around the world for decades. He's a very low-profile individual. But he's sharp and he's as legitimate as they come.

CARLSON: Sounds it. But Hunter Biden and Jim Biden have a well-documented decades long record of business disasters. Did you get any sense that either one of these guys was qualified to be conducting this kind of business?

BOBULINSKI: The only qualification they had was the Biden name.

CARLSON: But they seem to have parlayed that into quite a few deals in quite a few countries. And I interrupted you. So give me — continue with where they were doing these deals.

BOBULINSKI: Yes. So you had asked the extent to my communication with Hunter Biden. So when I decided to come off the bench and entertain being the CEO of Sinohawk Holdings, obviously, I was brought up to speed on the work that they had been doing in Oman, Luxembourg, France, Romania, Kazakhstan, and stuff like that because that was all going to be integrated into Sinohawk Holdings and so you asked to the extent that I spent time with Hunter Biden. I personally was in Bucharest, Romania with Hunter Biden, Jim Biden, James Gilliar, Rob Walker.

8:39:01 p.m.

CARLSON: I just want to restate this, you are not a grifter, you are not someone who's selling access. You're a legitimate business man who's done deals in a lot of different countries. So, I just want you to assess once more, is there anything about Hunter Biden's personal experience, personal qualifications that would justify him doing a deal in Kazakhstan?

BOBULINSKI: Absolutely nothing. The only thing that he had was the Biden family name, and the fact that his father at one point obviously was the sitting vice president and potentially would run as a future president.

CARLSON: It sounds like a remarkably ambitious international business program they had running — he and his uncle.

BOBULINSKI: Extensive, extensive.

CARLSON: This is a small point, but I can't get over it. So you saw a number of reporters say, again, in an effort to bat away your story, your testimony on this, that the chairman referred to in a bunch of these e-mails, was not Joe Biden. It was in fact the government of China. When you see people refer to the chairman thinks this, the chairman thinks that – they're talking about China, and not Joe Biden. So I want to put up on the screen, here is a text message you received from Hunter Biden, to you. Hey Tony, I have an idea. In light of the fact that we are at an impasse of sorts and both James' lawyers and my chairman gave an emphatic no, I think we should all meet in Romania on Tuesday next week. And so you're hearing reporters say, that chairman was in fact the Chinese government. Here you have Rob Walker responding to you – clearly there's some confusion over this and he's saying – I'll put this on the screen now. When he said – when Hunter Biden said his chairman, he was talking about his dad.

BOBULINSKI: Correct. There's two chairman in this story. There's Chairman Ye, who's the chairman of CEFC and that text from Hunter Biden, he was not talking about the chairman of CEFC and what Hunter's referencing there is he spoke with his father and his father is giving an emphatic no to the ask which I had, which was putting proper governance in place around Oneida Holdings.

CARLSON: So Joe Biden is vetoing your plan for putting stricter governance in the company. I mean, and — and it's right here in the email.

BOBULINSKI: Yeah, Tucker want to be very careful in front of the American people. That is not me writing that. That is not me claiming that. That is Hunter Biden writing on his own phone typing in that I spoke with my chairman, referencing his father. If the world thinks that that “my chairman,” not his father, than hunter Biden would come forward and go on record and state to the world, “my —

CARLSON: But you have the Biden family's representative Rob walker saying right here, May 19: “No. When he said his chairman, he was talking about his dad.”

BOBULINSKI: Exactly.

[BACK IN STUDIO]

CARLSON: But Joe Biden had no knowledge of any of these business deals. He told us that and the press has been repeated that message every day since. It is a lie and everyone knows it's a lie.

8:47:42 p.m.

CARLSON: Tell me about the money. So, in the end, the Chinese did send quite a bit of money.

BOBULINSKI: Correct.

CARLSON: Where did it go?

BOBULINSKI: Documents were all executed even after this back-and-forth, and the Chinese CEFC director Zang, who's number three at the company, worked directly for Chairman Ye and the way it was presented to me as very senior Chinese communist party member was assuring me that $10 million was being sent to our bank account that was set up at JPMorgan Chase to basically fund operation and grow the business and that, of that $10 million, we were capitalizing the business so $5 million of that $10 million was being loaned to Onieda Holdings as a nonrecourse loan from CEFC, and the other $5 million was coming in CEFC as they are capitalization of the business because we owned 50/50 in the partnership. The Chinese and CEFC never viewed me — I am insignificant and irrelevant in this discussion. To them, it was always the Biden family. It wasn't Hunter Biden. It wasn't Jim Biden. It was the Biden family, who's obviously led and operated by Joe Biden and in that document that you guys have and I think's been provided to the world, the Chinese reference that because of their trust in the Biden family, that Chairman Ye and Director Zang are excited about moving forward in this and in that document, they reference loaning $5 million to the BD family.

CARLSON: Right.

BOBULINSKI: The BD is the Biden family, and noticed they didn't say we are loaning that money to Onieda Holdings, or we're loaning that money to Tony Bobulinski, we are loaning that money to James Gillard or Bob Walker, they — once again, not a document generated by me but documented and generated by CEFC — that they are loaning that money the Biden family.

CARLSON: What are the implications of this going forward if Joe Biden is elected president, which could very well happen. How does this constrain his ability to deal with China?

BOBULINSKI: Are you asking for my personal opinion?

CARLSON: Your opinion is someone who has worked with the Chinese.

BOBULINSKI: So, I think Joe Biden and the Biden family are compromised. Obviously I've referenced that held a Q clearance. You're briefed on compromise and, you know, who you're able to talk with and deal and do business with and I just don't see. given the history here and the facts. how Joe can't be influenced in — in some manner based on the history that they have where — here with CEFC and stuff like that. So as a citizen and an American taxpayer, I'm very, very concerned.

CARLSON: It seems at this point there is so much documentation and, again, we have your documents, the ones that you retained the texts, the emails, and the legal documents but presumably, there are many others because there were a lot of other people involved in this. Is it possible that this stuff just disappears and nobody covers it for the next four years if Biden's elected? It seems like there's a lot of evidence out there.

BOBULINSKI: I think the American people should be demanding that this is investigated and I don't know what the right party to do that. Is that the DOJ? Is that the FBI? Is that Congress? Is that the Senate? But there — there absolutely should be no scenario that this is an investigated and as you said, I probably have purview into 10 percent — just picking a round number — of what was actually going on and I would encourage the American people to go online and download, you know, Senator Johnson's 87 page report after watching this and read pages 65 through 87 and form your own conclusion. What I've come forward with is a piece in that puzzle that Senator Johnson and Senator Grassley did not have. They didn't have it because I hadn't gone on record and all this information and documentation was kept very, very tight. You asked me if information disappeared, I would assume — I would expect that other parties have probably destroyed or gotten rid of information. I didn't. I have every email, every text, every WhatsApp that was exchanged and I've provided that to the authorities and here I am discussing it.

CARLSON: So you learn from the Senate report that the Chinese sent a great deal of money but it didn't go where it was supposed to go, correct?

BOBULINSKI: Yes, that's correct. So take the American people back to July 2017, I was being told by Director Zang, who's a senior executive at CEFC that the $10 million was going to be funded in two tranches of $5 million and $5 million. Once, the way that they were approaching that was $5 million was a loan to the Biden family and $5 million was their contribution to capitalize on Sinohawk holdings. That money didn't come in June, it didn't come in July, and I was in Europe traveling with friends and family and I was frustrated because culturally, there's a tendency of, "hey, its coming, it's coming" and it wasn't coming. So I was very frustrated but also in July 2017, something that happened is over July 4th weekend while we were celebrating our Independence Day, President Xi was in Moscow meeting Vladimir Putin on an official visit and in that meeting and in that, you know, multiple days, Director Zang was in Moscow participating in that and Rosneft or the media in the Russia had leaked the press that they were entertaining selling 14 percent of Rosneft, which is state-owned, U.S. sanctioned energy company of Russia to CEFC. When I saw that leaked, you can imagine — once again the clearance I held, the military background, sort of push away from the table like, whoa, that's — this is stair-stepping things at a level that do I even want to be associated with or do I even want to be near. Shortly after that information got out, I was told that Director Zang visa was denied, he could no longer get back into the U.S. for meetings or to bring his wife and his kids to go to school in New York and that it was denied multiple times. Jim Biden confirms that in texts, James Gillard references it, Kevin — Dong Gongwen Wen, who's the individual that's referenced in Senator Johnson's Senate report, he went by Kevin, his legal name is Dong — Dongwen — Cong, sorry. And so I was sort of walking on eggshells, you know, of what's going on, saying this money is going to be funded and it hasn't come in yet, I'm sort of near the end of my rope here and then in September, easily validated, it's officially announced that CEFC is — is buying 14 percent of Rosneft, once again the state-owned energy company, so at that point, I just sort of pushed away from the table, the money hadn't been funded into Sinohawk and I was having daily discussions with James Gillard. You know, what's going on here? The Biden name, Russia, China, I don't want to be anywhere near this. I got to understand all the moving pieces and so we went into the fall of 2017 very well documented when Patrick Cho, who's an employee or an associate of CEFC, landed in New York, he was detained by the U.S. government and put in jail for corruption, apparently for leaving shoe boxes of cash to two African presidents and it started this downhill spiral of CEFC as a company.

Remember, President Xi was traveling around the world under the One Belt, One Road — that was their political approach and CEFC was the capitalistic side of the Chinese government doing things that they could do on the capitalist side that the government couldn't get done. It's a very well documented the work that CEFC did in the Middle East, in Czechoslovakia and Romania, Kazakhstan, in Georgia, all over the world. When they announced that that they were officially tendering for a deal valued at $9 billion, I sort of push away from the table like okay, obviously that's taking priority over this discussion, and I just sort of was watching things play out once they detained Patrick Cho. I did reach out to Hunter Biden in October 2017 asking him, hey, listen, they haven't funded the $10 million. Have you done something that I am not aware of? Have you gone around us? Have you started a parallel discussion with Chairman Ye that I should be conscious of? And in a variety of text messages that you've been provided and I think the American people have been provided, he says no, I didn't go around you, but oh, by the way, I'm acting as the personal attorney to Chairman Ye. Now, imagine being in my shoes looking at my phone reading this text message from Hunter Biden. I just spent six months all out of pocket myself. Nobody was paying me. I was paying for my own travel, my own meals, my own cars, anything that was needed, and Hunter Biden is now telling me that he's meeting personally one-on-one with Chairman Ye his $3 million penthouse in New York and, if you can't meet him, he's picking up the phone and calling him but they only discuss things in person. You can imagine my anger and frustration because then I'm like, "oh, this has gotten slippery. You have gone around me. What's going on here? And, oh, by the way, Hunter, you're acting as the personal attorney to Chairman Ye while they're tendering for 14 percent of the Russian state-owned energy company, a deal valued at $9 billion? What am I missing here?" And he just sort of plays it off and he said, "I'm working on a bunch of personal things and visas and stuff like that" but doesn't go into a lot of detail. I'd love for you to ask him that. I'd love the American people to ask what those other special things were.

BOBULINSKI: But I had to go on record because they chose to sort of make up my name so I have a former SEAL team protecting my family. I'm not at home right now and I'll travel the next four years if I have to. I had to do this.

CARLSON: Are you worried?

BOBULINSKI: Of course I'm worried. I've gotten death threats, calls, obviously I sat with the FBI and they assured me I would more than be protected by them when and if needed but I think I'll slowly become irrelevant in this discussion because the facts are so powerful and so necessary that hopefully I'll just sort of go stage left and hopefully our government and the appropriate people — the Biden family — will go on record and basically provide facts to the American people.
