CNN's Election Night in America
11/03/26
4:00:51 p.m.
2 minutes and 31 seconds

CNN NARRATOR: Election day is here. The polls are open, and control of Congress is up for grabs.

ABDUL EL-SAYED: We won't back down.

FORMER CONGRESSMAN MIKE ROGERS (R-MI): We have a state to save.

CNN NARRATOR: Voters across America have a chance to upend the political order in Washington.

STATE REPRESENTATIVE JAMES TALARICO (D-TX): We are going to shock the nation

CNN NARRATOR: Will President Trump's second term get a green light, or hit a potentially crippling roadblock?

PRESIDENT DONALD TRUMP: I'm going to be impeached. [SCREEN WIPE] They're going to impeach me.

CNN NARRATOR: From coast to coast, candidates are delivering their closing pitches to voters who are frustrated with both parties and the direction of the country.

STATE ATTORNEY GENERAL KEN PAXTON (R-TX): Everything costs more. Everything's up except your paycheck.

SENATOR JON OSSOFF (D-GA): It's the most corrupt administration of all time.

FORMER GOVERNOR ROY COOPER (D-NC): We need to end this war in Iran.

MICHAEL WHATLEY: I will stand up to the woke mob.

CNN NARRATOR: Tonight, Democrats are chasing a political comeback, with an energized electorate and history on their side —

FORMER PRESIDENT BARACK OBAMA: Everywhere you go, it feels like change is in the air.

CNN NARRATOR: — aiming to take back the House and put a check on the White House.

HOUSE MINORITY LEADER HAKEEM JEFFRIES (D-NY): Run these MAGA extremists out of town.

HOUSE SPEAKER MIKE JOHNSON (R-LA): We are going to hold the majority in the House.

CNN NARRATOR: It's a tougher map in the Senate with must-win seats for Democrats in razor-thin races, and any state could decide at all.

EL-SAYED: It is for control of the entire United States Senate.

ROGERS: This is our chance to stand up and say we were the defenders.

FORMER MAINE SENATE PRESIDENT TROY JACKSON (D): I don't owe Donald Trump anything.

SENATOR SUSAN COLLINS (R-ME): Represent all of Maine.

CNN NARRATOR: But the battlefield is full of deep-red states that Republicans are scrambling to keep in their column.

TALARICO: Texas is not for sale.

PAXTON: If we lose Texas, we lose America.

SENATOR ROGER MARSHALL (R-KS): It's time that modern day patriots stand up.

ADAM HAMILTON: I'm going to fight for the people of Kansas.

CNN NARRATOR: Outside Washington, both parties clashing for control in governors races across the country.

AMY ACTON: It is time for a change.

VIVEK RAMASWAMY: I'm going to put Ohioans first.

CNN NARRATOR: And, at the center of it all, a President with everything on the line.

TRUMP: Please pretend I'm on the frickin' ballot, will ya?

CNN NARRATOR: This is CNN's coverage of Election Night in America. The fight for control of Congress, the contests for governor, and the direction of the country at stake.

CONGRESSMAN MIKE COLLINS (R-GA): Get out there! Get out there and vote.

OSSOFF: Are you ready to win?

CNN NARRATOR: It's democracy in action. Voters are choosing. The world is watching, and anything is possible.